

Simplify your shipping payments

One statement. One payment. One view.

If you're like most shippers, you receive invoices from multiple carriers, each with different due dates and payment requirements.

Now there's a better way. With Pitney Bowes, you can pay for shipping when it's convenient to you. Manage all or part of your shipping expenses through one account—no matter how many carriers you use. You can even pay for postage on this same account. Streamlined billing and money saving rewards are just a few of the no-cost benefits you'll enjoy.

We make it easier to manage shipping without changing your shipping process. All-in-one statements and robust online reporting provide the big-picture view you need to control costs. Access your individual carrier statement for shipment details—but you no longer need to pay separately.

You can even receive additional savings in the form of rewards points—so the more you ship, the greater the savings.

Best of all, Pitney Bowes handles everything and sets up your carriers, with no activation fees, no transaction fees and no contracts. All you have to say is Yes.

Manage shipping expenses on your terms.
